How does LCA work? LCA supposes a simple parametric model and uses observed data to estimate parameter values for the model. The model parameters are: (1) the prevalence of each of C case subpopulations or latent classes (they are called 'latent' because a case's class membership is not directly observed); and (2) conditional response probabilities--i.e., the probabilities, for each ...

The eureka effect (also known as the Aha! moment or eureka moment) refers to the common human experience of suddenly understanding a previously incomprehensible problem or concept. Some research describes the Aha! effect (also known as insight or epiphany) as a memory advantage, but conflicting results exist as to where exactly it occurs in the brain, and it is difficult to predict under what ...
