For this method to work, one generally does not need a product of two equally-sized groups. A so-called short exact sequence of finite groups of appropriate size already does the job. Try for example the group with quotient- and subgroup .It seems clear (already from enumeration arguments), that not all Sudokus can be generated this way.

It appears that the step backward is an attempt to have one operating system and set of applications that run on both tablets and computers. My guess is that since many tablets are limited in the amount of memory they have, Microsoft has opted to ditch 3D modeling of buttons and ribbons and real color options.
