Best Answer: The answer will be zero because work done = force x displacement. Since the body is moving with constant velocity it means acceleration is zero which in turn means force is zero. Though the weight of the body is a force but it acts vertically down and perpendicular to horizontal direction ( assuming that the movement is in horizontal plane) and it has no component along the ...

In my opinion, Tiner's writing style proves to be critical in Integrated Physics & Chemistry. He takes two subjects that are often presented as dry collections of information and turns them into historical and biographical journeys through the development of science. You could aptly call this course "The Story of Chemistry and Physics."
